

The image shows a calligraphy practice grid. On the left side, there is a vertical checkerboard pattern of black and white squares. To the right of this pattern, there are four 'X' markers, one in each of the four main sections of the grid. The grid itself consists of a series of horizontal lines, with alternating shaded and unshaded bands between them. The lines are slightly slanted, and the shaded bands are a light gray color. The overall layout is designed for practicing the proportions and slant of calligraphic letters.